Be R.E.A.L.

For Middle School Girls and Their Parents

Relationships - Extraordinary, Authentic and Loving

What? 4 great evenings for your middle school girl and you!
When? Wednesday nights: 6:30 - 8:30pm, March 16, 23, 30 & April 6, 2011
Where? Vroman's Bookstore, 695 E. Colorado Blvd., Pasadena
This class will be held in the Vroman's Meeting Room located next door to the main store in the Atrium.

Got frenemies? Be R.E.A.L. can help!

Be R.E.A.L. is for middle school girls who want to:
have positive, lasting friendships gain tools for dealing with cliques, exclusion & when lines get crossed build confidence & have fun!

Be R.E.A.L. is for adults who want to:
connect with other parents & caregivers learn more about the social world of middle school girls gain strategies to empower girls for positive friendships

"Friendships are so important to middle school girls! When we listen to girls, we learn very quickly about their relationships and the all-too-frequent drama that accompanies them," says Dr. Melissa Johnson, Licensed Psychologist, CEO, and founder of the Institute for Girls' Development. What can girls do when friendships are unfriendly in the neighborhood, at school, or online? What can caring adults do to help? Find out by joining us for 4 engaging, informative, and fun Wednesday nights. Many families have participated in the program 2 and 3 years in a row. Why? Because "we love it" say girls and parents.

If you know of a middle school girl, or a parent or caregiver of a middle school girl, please share with them the opportunity.

Program Tuition
